GIRL FATALY HURT WHEN HIT BY AUTO ON DOUGLAS STREET

Joan McKinnon, Three-Year-Old Daughter of Rev. F. W. McKinnon, Pastor of Douglas Street Baptist Church, Dies Suddenly in Hospital Following Accident Late Yesterday

STRUCK by an automobile as she was crossing Douglas Street, near Boleskine Road, Joan McKinnon, three-year-old daughter of Rev. F. W. McKinnon and Mrs. McKinnon, 3440 Saanich Road, was fatally injured and died suddenly in the Royal Jubilee Hospital at 11:15 o'clock last night, seven hours after the accident.

According to information gathered by Chief Allan Rankin, of the Saanich police, Joan had gone to her home, on an errand. When part way across Douglas Street, she dropped her parcel. After picking it up, she ran a short distance and into the path of an automobile and was knocked down. The automobile, police said, was driven by William Robertson, of Wilkerson Road.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

The injured child was taken immediately to the Jubilee Hospital, and attended by Dr. W. J. Endicott. Hospital authorities reported she was resting comfortably in the early part of the evening. She died suddenly about 11:15 o'clock.

Rev. Mr. McKinnon is pastor of the Douglas Street Baptist Church, and for the past two years has been leader of the Douglas Social Credit movement in Victoria.

ELEVEN KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Ice on Wings Causes Wreck of Belgian Air Liner in South of England

TATSFIELD, Kent, Eng., Dec. 10 (P).—A Belgian air liner, its wings coated with ice, crashed in a valley today and eleven persons were killed in one of the worst civil air disasters ever to occur in Great Britain.

The craft, forced low by the ice formations, struck the top of a hill, zigzagged into the valley and crashed with terrific force.

A villager, who rushed to the scene, said "everything was smashed to pieces. The bodies were terribly mutilated." The only woman passenger, a German, was decapitated.

FLYING TO LONDON
Seven of the victims were passengers and four members of the crew. The plane was flying to London from Brussels after crossing the English Channel, battling rain and a high wind.

One of the two or three Britons killed was Captain Sir John Valentine Carden, forty-three, a well-known designer of airplane engines which bear his name. As a technical director of Vickers-Armstrong, Limited, he designed many British army tanks.

THOUSANDS SEEK KIDNAPPED CUBAN

Ransom of $300,000 Demanded for Release of Millionaire Seized on Highway

HAVANA, Dec. 10 (P).—Cuba's Army headquarters tonight sought 4,000 police and soldiers and 300 army intelligence agents into a search for Nicolas Castano, Havana millionaire, who was kidnapped from a highway yesterday.

There were unconfirmed reports that the kidnappers had demanded a ransom payment of $300,000. Castano's fortune was estimated by a reliable source at between $30,000 and $40,000,000.

"GIVE A JOB"

TEN years ago the Victoria Branch of the Employment Service of Canada launched its first "Give-a-Job" campaign, in co-operation with Victoria merchants and householders. Yesterday the drive was renewed, with the objective of 100 part-time or permanent jobs before Christmas. In the men's division, there are men waiting to do any of the hundred and one odd chores about the home, garden, factory or store. In the women's division, every class of female help, from stenography to sewing, is available, save cooking. In many homes a job, be it for an hour, a day or a week, would be the best of all Christmas presents. Telephone Garden 2411 for men, Empire 1931 for women. Give a job, for Christmas.

Famous Battleship Moves Into the Atlantic

Political observers look upon the departure of the H.M.S. Renown, above, and the H.M.S. Hood, from Gibraltar, as being an astute move on the part of Great Britain, in view of the conference between British, French and Italian diplomats. It would look as if the departure of the British warships is a gesture of good will on the part of Britain, but they will never be more than a few hours away from vulnerable Mediterranean points in case of emergency. Here we see the Renown arriving at Portsmouth, shortly before she was reconducted for the trip to Gibraltar.

OPPOSITION REAFFIRMED

Neither Britain Nor United States Giving In to Japan's Demands

LONDON, Dec. 10 (P).—Great Britain today reaffirmed her opposition at the International Naval Conference to Japanese demands for parity with the British and United States navies, but the question of total tonnage was placed on the programme as the first order of business.

This issue provided one of the major obstacles of the conference. It contains Japan's demand for naval equality and the scrapping of the 5-5-3 ratio system.

CANADA HAS DESTINY OF BRIGHT HUE

Dr. H. M. Tory, of National Research Council, Addresses Two Clubs

PREDICTS PROGRESS TO BE OUTSTANDING

"There is a growing tendency in Canada to be optimistic today and pessimistic tomorrow, because we do not think deeply enough about our problems and the nations problems."

Thus did Dr. H. M. Tory, president of the National Research Council of Canada, preface his address on "Canada, a Scientific View," before a joint luncheon meeting of the Canadian and Kiwanis Clubs at the Empress Hotel yesterday. He was introduced by Rowan W. MacKenzie, president of the Kiwanis Club.

Dr. Tory asked three questions: "Can we go forward in Canada with the knowledge that we have everything necessary to make a better civilization? Have we the resources to hold our own in the world of commerce? What does history teach us a country finds necessary to build up a real civilization?"

A nation needed a climate suitable for growing man's needs, resources capable of being developed, communication between its various sections, and a progressive, independent people, Dr. Tory asserted.

PREDICTS PROGRESS

There was more land suitable for farming in Canada than in the British Isles, France, Germany, Holland and Denmark combined, he said. He believed that Canada would make more material and social progress in the next twenty-five years than any other part of the world had made in seventy-five years. He declared the time was not far distant when the nation would be compelled to admit thousands of immigrants of a type who would respect the country's institutions.

"We have no great mass of inferior races in Canada, and must look forward to a kind of development which will keep us united for the common good," he said.

Speaking a few words on British colonization in Africa, Dr. Tory related how justice and fair play were being extended at a rapid pace. He asserted that the British in Africa controlled natural resources as great as those of the United States; at the time of the Declaration of Independence.

Dealing with the climate of Canada, Dr. Tory said its range suited people from almost any part of the world. He also found conditions for health and happiness as great as any other country.

Touching upon unity, he claimed that politicians did not always stimulate it, but felt the widespread use of radio broadcasting would prove of inestimable value. Barriers of sectionalism must be removed to make a greater Canada, he declared.

CREDITS RAILWAYS

He gave the railways credit for accumulating the wealth of Canada, stating that they had resulted in binding the provinces together as a Dominion.

Dr. Tory branded a lie the statement that men of the past had made a mess of Canada. He said the statement made young people feel conceited. He hoped the next generation would possess the same spirit as that of the Fathers of Confederation.

"Greater demands than ever before are being made upon intelligence. We must settle down and study to remedy our mistakes of the past. We must realize we are living in a new world, and must work towards the goal of complete unity," Dr. Tory concluded.

He was thanked on behalf of the Canadian and Kiwanis Clubs by Col. H. T. Goodland, vice-president of the Canadian Club.

PREDICT IL DUCE WILL AGREE TO PLAN

additional sanctions against Rome on the ground that the proposed plan was fair to Ethiopia.

This contention was based on assertions that:

1. The plan is not a "reward for aggression" but simply is an "exchange of territories," by which Italy would get part of Ethiopia and Ethiopia would get an outlet to the Red Sea.

2. Boundaries between Ethiopia and Italy's two East African colonies never have been clearly defined, and the plan, if adopted, would define them.

WORD FROM SELASSIE

Selassie has conveyed to the Government formal word that he cannot accept the peace plan, although he still has not received the official text of its terms, it was learned on high authority here.

"The Ethiopian Government considers it entirely impossible to accept any proposal for settlement of the conflict which would constitute a premium on aggression, and will reject the plan without hesitation," the Emperor was quoted as saying in his note.

Ethiopia would prefer to fight to the last man rather than accept a settlement rewarding the Italian invader, he was said to have concluded.

WORKING IN CONJUNCTION

LONDON, Dec. 10 (P).—Prime Minister Baldwin tonight told the House of Commons that Great Britain intended to continue working in conjunction with other members of the League of Nations in efforts to settle the Italo-Ethiopian conflict.

His speech climaxed an eventful day, during which the Cabinet held an urgent meeting in which various rumors concerning the Anglo-French peace proposals were current.

After the Cabinet meeting it was announced that the Cabinet had neither approved nor disapproved of the plan. (Reports on Monday night indicated that the Cabinet had given its approval.) The Foreign Office announced that further negotiations were taking place with Paris.

DEFENDS PROPOSALS

Anthony Eden, Minister for League of Nations Affairs, in a speech in the House, defended the peace proposals. Apparently his remarks referred to the proposal as amended by British suggestions. His speech for the first time officially outlined the main points of the plan.

It also tended to dispel rumors that he would resign because of opposition to the plan as originally drafted by Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Secretary, and Premier Laval of France, last week-end in Paris.

Mr. Baldwin's declaration on Britain's attitude concluded debate in the House on the Address in Reply to the Speech from the Throne. The address was adopted by a vote of 281 to 139. The Labor Opposition voted against the address as a protest against the Government's attitude in the peace negotiations.

SUPPLIES AN OUTLINE

The Labor Opposition vigorously attacked the Government during debate and pressed for details of the plan. Although Mr. Baldwin earlier had announced that he could not make them public to the House yet, Eden emphasized that the Paris proposals were "only the first step in a long and complicated enterprise." He said the three main principles on which the proposals were based were as follows:

1. Exchange of territory between Italy and Ethiopia, "definitely advantageous to both sides."

2. League assistance to Ethiopia for the purpose of social, economic and administrative development.

3. "Special facilities for Italian settlers and Italian companies in connection with economic development."

CHEERED BY OFFER

ROME, Dec. 10 (P).—Benito Mussolini went home tonight without seeing the official Franco-British plan for peace in Africa, but unofficial Fascists were cheered by the offer. Even if the plan is rejected, they said, it showed that the powers, after applying sanctions, are giving far more than they proposed to do at first. But objections were raised to the plan in these circles.

Fascists expect the armies in Ethiopia to strengthen Il Duce's hands by further advances and a smashing victory.

Mussolini's stand on the peace plan remained a mystery. He has never told his people what territory in Ethiopia he wants, but unofficial sources said that he wants a broad band connecting Eritrea and Somaliland and the disarmament of the remainder of Haile Selassie's kingdom.

COMPLETE AGREEMENT

(Copyright, 1935, by Harris News Agency)
PARIS, Dec. 10 (P).—It was announced officially here tonight that Great Britain and France were in complete agreement on the text of the Anglo-French proposals designed to halt the Italo-Ethiopian conflict.

The text of the plan was dispatched to Rome and Addis Ababa. Copies were addressed to the British and French ministers to both capitals and were to be submitted by them to Il Duce and Emperor Haile Selassie.

The peace proposals finally were endorsed by Premier Laval after a conference with Sir Robert G. Vansittart, permanent under-secretary of the British Foreign Office, and Sir George Russell, British ambassador. It was presumed M. Laval had approved the amendments reported to have been proposed by the British Government at a Cabinet meeting today.

SMALLER POWERS UNEASY

GENEVA, Dec. 10 (P).—The League of Nations was threatened tonight with a crisis over the opposition of smaller powers to the reported African peace plan drafted by Great Britain and France.

If newspaper reports of the peace plan are correct, some delegates said, a most serious situation would develop, with even resignations of certain nations possible. The situation was described as a virtual rebellion.

change, appeared to be the result of the recently adopted silver nationalization policy of the Shanghai and Hongkong Governments in China. Their attempts to acquire foreign exchange for linking their currencies to the pound sterling were said to underlie the heavy silver offerings today.

The United States Treasury, it appeared to Wall Street silver experts, had simply withdrawn its bids for metal in London rather than take the enormous amounts of silver offered in connection with the Chinese currency plans, swelled later by the frantic attempts by international speculators to dump silver.

SWAMPED BY SELLING

LONDON, Dec. 10 (P).—The London silver market, swamped by huge quantities from the Far East and no buyers, collapsed today. Dealers, bewildered by the sudden turn of events, attributed the collapse to lack of buying offers from the United States. Operations were suspended and the market finally closed without a price being fixed. At 2 p.m. brokers announced the doors would reopen at 4:15 p.m., but they remained closed.

The spot price was below 29 pence per ounce for the first time since last April.

VOTE

Victoria Can't Afford It

If by some miracle all of British Columbia, Washington, Oregon and California could be induced to have daylight saving it would cause little or no inconvenience. But that is impossible. Not even a single city within hundreds of miles of Victoria will have it. They have all tried it and voted against it. That is why Victoria, with tourist business its greatest asset during the months of July and August, simply can't afford to be different. Daylight saving may benefit a few, but to the vast majority it will prove only a nuisance and a hindrance to business. Something we can very well do without.

Early Settlement Of Nova Scotia Is Related by Bishop

Rev. J. H. MacDonald Addresses Victoria Burns Club on Settlement of New Scotland—Describes Incidents in History of Province

HISTORIC incidents of the settlement of Nova Scotia, dating from the "Markland of the Norsemen," some 900 centuries ago, were graphically described by Rt. Rev. J. H. MacDonald, Bishop of Victoria, in an address to members of the Victoria Burns Club in the Chamber of Commerce here last night. The title of his address was "The Scot in New Scotland."

The Bishop briefly sketched the Scots in 1621 through the efforts of Sir William Alexander, who persuaded King James I to set up a new knighthood, the knights and barons of Nova Scotia. Knights were secured by the payment of specified sums and the promise to assist in the new settlement.

SIR WILLIAM'S PLAN

Sir William's plan came to an end in 1632, the Bishop related, because of the insistence of Sir William on the establishment of the feudal system in the new country. The incidents connected with the new plan were interesting from an historic viewpoint as well as political. Nova Scotia, the Bishop said, was made a part of the County of Edinburgh because of the inability of carrying out the lavish ceremonies connected with the feudal system in the new country. A piece of land was set aside near Holyrood and, it has been suggested by historians, that the move could be construed as having had political significance. In the event of a separation of Scotland and England, Nova Scotia would remain with Scotland as being part of the County of Edinburgh.

At this point the Bishop remarked if lawyers were to go very deeply into the legal aspect of that incident, it might be found that the old Scottish law should apply to Nova Scotia instead of English law. Nova Scotia has a distinction not possessed by any other province in the Dominion: It has a flag of its own, the flag of Scotland reversed.

DOWNFALL OF SCHEME

The colonization scheme failed mainly because of the feudal system and it was not long before the newcomers, both highland and lowland, tired of the system and preferred the clan system, which the Bishop said, "was the most democratic system in the whole world."

Cape Breton was settled on July 1, 1629, with the arrival there of Sir James Stuart. It was not until 1719

Britain Tests Aerial Troopship

A fine picture of what may soon be Great Britain's troopship of the air, as it was put through tests before being accepted by the British Government. The plane is intended for the transport of a complete detachment of troops, together with their equipment, or alternatively for use as a long-range bomber. The plane is driven by two motors developing 850 horsepower each, and is armed with two machine guns on revolving turrets, one in the nose and one in the rear of the plane's fuselage. The wheels are retractable.

Phone E 1127 to Register Aid to Gyro Club Fund

THREE telephone lines to the Gyro hamper office and three for use during broadcasts have been installed by the club. Offices at 915 Yates Street to register donations are available over Empire 1127, 1128 and 1129, while radio donations may be recorded through Empire 7191, 7192 and Empire 8913.

that a general emigration from the Highlands of Scotland began. Those settlers located in Pictou just about the beginning of the Boston Tea Party episode.

The Bishop, illustrating the loyalty of the Scots to the Mother Country, said that while there were mutinies in the ranks of various units in many parts of the troubled country, "not one single Scot wavered in his loyalty to the Motherland and stood fast."

SCOTTISH CHARACTER

Bishop MacDonald reviewed the character of the early Scottish settlers and maintained that the majority of the new settlers "came not to make money, but to secure freedom from the rents and the landlords of Scotland." He mentioned the educational facilities in the new country and the establishment of the "Academy" at Pictou with teachers graduated from the Universities of Edinburgh and Aberdeen.

He rounded out an interesting forty-five minute talk with stories of early settlers and the founding of institutions, and concluded with the statement that, in Nova Scotia the Scots hold in high admiration, their ancestors who filled the soil and laid the foundation of a great and prosperous province.

THE ENTERTAINMENT

Bishop MacDonald was introduced by W. A. Jamieson, president of the club. The entertainment part of the meeting consisted of solos, in Gaelic, by Mrs. W. A. Jamieson; Scottish songs by Mrs. W. R. Gunn; pipe selections by Pipe-Major Donald Cameron, W.O., and a series of motion pictures and lantern slides of "Scenic Beauties of New Scotland," views of Cape Breton and "Industrial Nova Scotia." The pictures were secured by George Warren, Jr., from the Department of Interior at Ottawa. Miss Janet Smith was the accompanist for the solos.

The annual Burns dinner will take place at the Empress Hotel on January 25.

NAME ACTRESS IN LOCAL FILM

Valerie Hobson, English Actress, Has Feminine Lead In "Tugboat Princess"

Valerie Hobson, English actress, known on the British and American screen, has been selected as the leading lady for the Central Films second production, "Tugboat Princess," work on which commenced here Monday, Kenneth J. Bishop, producer, announced last night.

Miss Hobson, in company with her mother, Mrs. Violet Hobson, and ten other actors, actresses, directors and technicians, left Hollywood last night for this city. They are expected to reach here Friday afternoon.

Weather permitting, work will be done on exterior scenes, and Mr. Bishop expects to complete the picture in three to four weeks. With a greater expenditure, this picture will be produced on a more elaborate scale than "Stop, Look and Love," which starred David Manners and Maxine Doyle.

TO ERECT SETS

In preparation for interior scenes, the Industrial Building at the Willows is being soundproofed by the film company, and this afternoon sets will be erected. The old building, formerly the automobile showroom, will be used for a storage house.

Additional sound and photographic equipment will be brought here, Mr. Bishop stated, and explained he had engaged Eric Clarkson, local architect, as art director and set designer.

The cast will include, besides Miss Hobson, Walter C. Kelly, who will play the male lead; Edith Fellows, child actress; John Moore, juvenile lead; and Clyde Cook, widely known British and Australian actor.

GARBAGE ISSUE IS DISCUSSED

Health Committee Will Recommend Special Clause in Future Contract

Apart from a new clause in the contract which will place the responsibility on the towing firm, there will be no change in the method of the city's garbage disposal if a recommendation from the health committee is adopted by the City Council at its next meeting.

The health committee met yesterday to consider the question of garbage disposal, and conferred with Harold Elworthy, head of the Victoria Tug & Barge Company, and Captain R. W. Roskelley, master of the tug which tows the city's garbage scows to sea.

The firm's representatives told the committee it was prepared to guarantee that none of the garbage would float back to the city's beaches, provided they were allowed to use their discretion concerning where it should be dumped, rather than being bound by a contract. Of course, they said, they would not be responsible for garbage dumped from passing steamers.

Tenders for the towing of city garbage to sea will be called early in the new year.

HANNAY TRIAL WILL CONTINUE

Men Accused of Burglary Cross-Examine Crown Witnesses at Length

NANAIMO, Dec. 10.—Contrary to expectations, the trial of George Hannay and W. H. Jones did not exhaust the Crown witnesses by 6 o'clock this afternoon, and court adjourned to Wednesday at 10 a.m., after His Lordship had warned the jury not to discuss the trial with anyone.

From the prisoner's box Hannay conducted his defence, indulging in long cross-examinations of each Crown witness.

Corporal Jacklin was put through a severe cross-examination as to the light on the night of the robbery, which he had stated at the preliminary hearing was good and the night calm.

Answering the Crown Prosecutor, Corporal Jacklin stated that when Hannay was ordered to stick his hands up by the officer, Hannay with one look at the officer recognized him, although he did not wear his uniform at the time.

IDENTIFIES GOODS

A. E. Constantine, owner of the store which the accused men are charged with forcing an entrance, identified goods which police swore they took out of sacks carried by the accused men as the brands carried in his store and having a retail value of $14.35.

Jones told the court that he would go in the witness box to testify Thursday afternoon. In cross-examination, Hannay asked Constable Gunn if he had a gun pointed at him at night on the highway, would he run. "Not as an officer of the law," Gunn replied, and otherwise would depend on the circumstances. When you saw a man shake Constantine's store door, why did you not spring out and arrest him, Hannay asked. He might get away, the officer replied, and then to my way of thinking, he hadn't done enough.

Staff-Sergeant Russell, head of Nanaimo Police, corroborated the evidence of the other officers of waiting three hours in different positions on the roadside near Constantine's store before two men appeared. When he heard two shots fired he came out of cover, and saw a man running towards him, which turned out to be Jones. He grabbed him and Jones and him had a tussle.

FIRE THREE SHOTS

The officer had a heavy coat on and Jones got away. The officer fired three shots and Jones would not stop. Shedding his coat, Sgt. Russell said he kept running until he overtook Jones, who was nervous, and kept repeating: "For God's sake, give me a chance."

He had cotton gloves on his person when searched, and a bunch of pick locks and skeleton keys, which were shown to the jury and numbered in the exhibit.

Mrs. W. H. Gee Is Taken by Death

After a very short illness at the family residence, 1009 Richmond Avenue, she passed away Tuesday morning Mrs. Susanna Gee, wife of W. H. Gee. Mrs. Gee, who was seventy-two years of age, was born in Moscow, Ontario, and after residing for some years in Regina, moved to this city twenty-four years ago.

An active church worker, the passing of Mrs. Gee will be keenly felt by a very wide circle of friends. She was a member of the Women's Missionary Society of the Belmont United Church, and a member of the Women's Canadian Club, and for seventeen years she was treasurer of the W.O.T.U. Home.

She is survived by her husband, Dr. Arthur M. Gee, New Westminster.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon, the cortege leaving the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home and proceeding to the Metropolitan United Church, where Rev. E. F. Church will officiate at 2:30 o'clock. The remains will be laid at rest in the family plot at Royal Oak Burial Park.

With Friday, January 17, acceptable to coaches of the University of British Columbia and the Victoria Y.M.C.A. track and field squads; prospects of the annual Kiwanis Club annual inter-city indoor track and field meet being held on that date looked bright yesterday. The meet was staged last year at the Bay Street Armories, for the purpose of augmenting the charity funds of the Kiwanis Club, and proved quite a success. It is expected that the local drill hall will again be the scene of the meet, but no definite announcement in this regard has yet been made.

ALL MEN . . .

at all ages Want ROLLS RAZORS

For Xmas..and here's why

A Rolls is no ordinary razor. It is a lifetime investment in extraordinarily good shaves. It has, you see, a hollow-ground blade of finest Sheffield steel. That's the kind barbers use. It automatically strops that blade into the pink of perfection every morning—and, occasionally, as required, it automatically reconditions itself on its own hone. That's why a Rolls is every man's conception of perfection. That's why you can be sure to raise father, husband, son or brother to the seventh heaven of delight by giving them Rolls Razors for Christmas.

STORIED SPOTS FROM SEA TO SEA

CANADA'S SOUTHERN LIMIT

PELEE ISLAND, off Essex County in Lake Erie, is Canada's southernmost territory and Point Pelee, reaching out towards the island, is the southern limit of the Dominion's mainland. The Point figures frequently in early chronicles as travelers by the lake route, the main highway for centuries, hugged the shore in their canoes, bateaux or tiny sailing craft. It was a natural place to camp at the end of a gruelling day's travel and often parties portaged across, rather than venture far enough into the lake to pass around it.

Pelee's best known incidents occurred in three different centuries. The missionaries Dollier and Gelineau, first white men to winter on Lake Erie, encamped on the point as they continued their westward journey in the Spring of 1870. Exhausted by paddling fifty miles in April weather, they neglected to carry their packs far enough from the beach and in the night a fierce gale swept some of them away. Besides valuable supplies, the alter-service was lost, which made it impossible to administer the Sacrament. This mishap was largely responsible for the decision to start the return journey which they made through the northern route, via Sault Ste. Marie and the Ottawa.

In 1763 a convoy of barges with provisions for Detroit, then besieged by Pontiac, was ambushed at Point Pelee. Sixty men were killed or captured. Lieutenant Cuyler and thirty others escaping, some of the unfortunate prisoners suffered torture outside the fort they had hoped to relieve. General Brock landed on Point Pelee during his rapid march which ended in the capture of General Hull's army at Detroit in 1812. And in 1838 Pelee Island saw troops defeat a considerable force of insurgents. Near a part of the beach much used for early landings on Pelee Point, which has been set aside as a national park, a cairn commemorates these outstanding events in Canada's past.

NATIONAL PROBLEMS

The annual statement of the Bank of Montreal is one of the barometric readings of Canada's financial security. The figures relating to the year's activities have been published, and they are reassuring, while the leading officials of the bank have given voice to an optimistic feeling regarding the future and satisfaction-respecting progress being made in the country. These statements, however, do not overlook the problems that have yet to be tackled. The most important of these is regarded by Sir Charles Gordon, the president of the Bank of Montreal, as that affecting the National Railways. What he believes should be done is the co-ordination of the railways of the Dominion under unified control so as to bring about the elimination of unwarranted competition and the duplication of services. The second problem alluded to by Sir Charles is that of unemployment. This he considers to be national in its scope, and one that should be dealt with under centralized control.

Sir Charles wants to see more attention paid to the development of the mining industry, as he realizes this industry is making a notable contribution in lessening the force of business depression in the country. In the matter of business as a whole, he realizes that it has had to contend with disturbing political tendencies. What he thinks is that its capacity for future recovery is conditional upon its freedom from bureaucratic interference and unnecessary restrictions. He decries unethical practices in business, but believes that such are few in number, and he sees no reason why business as a whole should be penalized because of these. It is axiomatic that he should pronounce in favor of thrift. That is the highway, persistently followed, which will lead out of the valley of depression.

Mr. Jackson Dodds, the general manager of the Bank of Montreal, very naturally dealt with the more intimate side of banking in his address to the shareholders. He analyzed the balance sheet, showing how solid is the position enjoyed by the institution. One of the most interesting of his statements was that relative to commercial loans. These, he said, were lagging behind the business improvement manifest on so many sides. An experience of this character is a usual one after a prolonged economic depression. It is the habit of a bank's customers in a time like this to employ their own accumulated funds before borrowing. He issues a warning about the habit of some borrowers in this country using foreign funds that are obtainable temporarily at very low rates. He expresses the hope that this practice will turn out less disastrously than on a former occasion. Mr. Dodds emphasizes that there are good and bad loans just as there is good and bad money. Loans bearing the highest rates of interest frequently result in loss to the lender, and the same is true as affecting the cheapest money, which often costs the borrower dearly in the end.

It is symptomatic of the commitments of the Bank of Montreal throughout the country that it should have paid in Federal and Provincial taxes last year a sum of $1,002,000, which was an increase of $101,000 as compared with tax bills of previous years. Moreover, there were increases noted in municipal taxes paid by branch banks. Mr. Dodds believes that taxation has reached the saturation point, something with which everyone, save perhaps the taxation authorities, will be prepared to agree. In fact, taxation is now consuming capital resources and sapping energy and enterprise, which means the discouragement of industry, production and construction, and these conditions do not tend to solve the unemployment problem. Mr. Dodds expresses the hope that he is right in his conclusion that direct and indirect taxpayers are beginning to take a livelier interest in what administrations are doing with their hard-earned money. It is such interest that will lead to better government.

A JUST OFFER

It should be a point of honor and just dealing for any authority responsible for unemployment relief to bear a share of the cost of medical services rendered to the unemployed. Why should the doctors alone of all classes in the community be expected to afford free service to those on relief? The Victoria Medical Society has very logically taken up this issue on behalf of its members. It is proposing to the City Council and to the Councils of nearby municipalities that certain sums should be paid monthly to reimburse practitioners for the services they render to the families of those who are on relief. The reimbursement suggested does not represent anything like full payment for the medical services rendered. On the contrary, it is doubtful if it represents 50 per cent of the actual amount which would be legitimately due. The balance could well be considered a handsome and substantial donation by the doctors to the needs of the times.

In Vancouver provision is made for payment for medical services to doctors who look after the ill of the families of the unemployed who are on relief. Towards the sum allocated for the purpose in that city the Provincial Government contributes its share. It could not legitimately refuse to do the same where Victoria is concerned. The point is that doctors should not be expected to afford medical treatment for nothing. That treatment is a necessity of life, and the object of unemployment relief is to provide necessities for those unfortunate enough to be out of work. It is essential that in all respects the unemployed should be kept physically fit so that they may be in a position to avail themselves of any opportunity for work. Such fitness often involves medical attention. It is a negation of its obvious responsibility for any authority charged with the task of unemployment relief to expect that medical services will be rendered free of cost. The offer made by the Victoria Medical Society is an essentially humane one, inasmuch as the services of the doctors are offered for half, or less, of the customary fees.

IN SWADDLING CLOTHES

In future it will be in the interest of Canada's permanent delegate to the League of Nations not to express an opinion of his own and not to record a vote until he has first consulted his Government. This method of "rubber stamp" representation may conceivably hold up the operations of the League and aggravate the delays for which the League is already being blamed. Since Canada's delegates cannot be trusted, it might be the better way for this country to withdraw from the League. No man of any individuality or a conscience of his own will want the task of representing this country. It is a position of invidious inferiority if a delegate from Ottawa has to sit in silence during discussion of affairs of the League, is allowed to have no mind of his own, and is simply there to keep his Government posted on what are the opinions of the representatives of the other nations.

In diplomatic usage Canada is in swaddling clothes. That was never more ludicrously illustrated than in the repudiation by the Government at Ottawa of the proposal by Dr. Walter Riddell that an embargo on oil should be imposed against Italy because of the present Italo-Ethiopian War. If the contention of the Canadian Cabinet is accepted, then no nation's representative is empowered to move a resolution before the League unless that resolution is first worded by his own Government. That means, of course, that no delegate's judgment would be trusted, which would be a sorry commentary on any prestige which is alleged to attach to international representation. Knowing what he knows, it is small wonder that Mr. J. W. Daffoe should have refused the post of Canada's representative at Washington. Mr. Daffoe is too big a man to become a rubber stamp.

ABLE FORESTRY OFFICIAL

Mr. P. Z. Caverhill, Chief Forester of the Provincial Government, who has passed away, was a zealous official entirely absorbed in his work. He was not one of the type that courts publicity; his character was quiet and modest. For his task he was fully equipped, and he gave it of the best that was in him, refusing to be distracted by any other considerations. He was a counsellor and friend to all his colleagues, and his very reserve was an asset which increased his popularity, for it was recognized as a part of his innate ability. He believed, indeed, in doing his work, and because he did it well he talked as little as possible about it. He was the type of civil servant who is an asset to any Government, and in the case of Mr. Caverhill a peculiarly valuable asset, as he was always studying to improve his outlook on the duties that were his. His technical knowledge was extensive. In his death the forest service loses its most valuable individuality, and British Columbia one of its ablest officials. Very deep sympathy will be tendered to his widow and son in the passing of the head of the family at such an early age.

The new technique of radio broadcasting is a great handicap to some politicians. Political speeches over the air tell nothing whatever of the magnetism of the speaker, if he has any. It has been a distinct disadvantage to such men as Mr. Lloyd George. His real capacities cannot be translated over the microphone, which has been described as "a soulless non-derivative instrument, a one-way traffic affair which does not answer back."

How short are human memories, or else how inadequate is an educational system which fails to impress the lessons of the past on the youth of the present. Recently Belgian students paraded in Brussels shouting "Down with Britain." If Great Britain had not entered the Great War there is no reason to believe that Belgium would be Belgium today.

I think the first virtue is to restrain the tongue; he approaches nearest to the gods who knows how to be silent even though he is in the right.—Cato.

Note and Comment

By R. R. D.

Thus grief still trends upon the heels of pleasure.—Cicero.

Pains of love be sweeter far Than all other pleasures are.—Dryden.

The club philosopher and repository of all knowledge wanted to know the difference between happiness and pleasure. The answer to the question was, or should have been, that happiness is a state of mind, a strictly spiritual or mental matter, a sort of ecstatic abstraction, while pleasure may be derived from gratification of the physical senses and be productive of pain and sorrow to others. A greater philosopher than he of the club, albeit of a kindred race, has said something on that point. We spend our years as a tale that is told, and in the brief span there may be a fleeting pleasure, but little happiness, in carnal excesses.

Pope, the little man with the big head, seems to have been in a permanent state of unhappiness and to have had few pleasures. He said man never was but always to be blest. Yet the most melancholy, probably, of all the great poets must have derived a measure of pleasure and a modicum of happiness from his work, or he would not have pursued it to the end of his days, for he does not seem to have derived a great deal of compensation from his publishers. Carlyle, another misanthropic man of genius, said something which would have been hailed with derision if he had said it in these days. He said happy was the man who worked because he was interested in his work and loved it. The Sage of Chelsea was able to speak from knowledge on this point, for a task upon which he had been engaged for some years and proved to be his masterpiece was destroyed by a careless servant girl, and he had to write his history of the French Revolution over again.

There may be some satisfaction, but we fear there is neither great happiness nor much pleasure in treading the paths of literature. Even mere newspaper scribbles scorn and sneer at the idea that there is any pleasure to be derived from the daily round and the nightly task. Yet they cannot get away from it. They are tethered to their jobs, like the muzzled ox. We already have mentioned the case of one editor who was always threatening to run away, by gad, but he never ran until he became ashamed to stay any longer, and then he ran away and got another job of the same kind. The "poor man's dearest friend" finally released him, and he went to his reward.

The idea of nearly every man seems to be that every other man is blessed in his work. It has been said that the sleep of men of hard labor is sweet and sound. Yet the average laboring man is envious of the man whose task seems to be light. We have met men who envied journalists and newspapermen, who never seemed to do anything except by fits and starts. The hard fact is that the work of the newspaperman, like the work of the tiller of the soil, who has been termed in derision a dirt farmer, is never done. The conditions of life are universal. We shall never have an ideal state until some of the political and economic dreamers and speculators establish an earthly Utopia and establish us all in it.

We fear the idyllic state, like happiness, is merely a state of mind. When some leader, who claims all the attributes of a prophet, tells us what we should do to be saved from the wrath to come and how to live in a state of perpetual idleness and blessedness, critics bob up from somewhere and proceed to tear the whole beautiful fabric into fragments. That is what the practical politicians are doing today at Ottawa. Prophets like Mr. Aberhart or preachers like Mr. McGeer will have no chance of putting their schemes over when pitted against wily men like Mr. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King or orthodox financial authorities like Hon. Charles Dunning. The Aberharts and the McGeers are not practical factors in public affairs. They are, like happiness, merely a state of mind. One blast from such substances as King and Dunning will blow them into the vast empyrean, and their places upon the earth will know them no more.

The only really happy man is the man who knows his own limitations and does not attempt to experiment beyond them. Probably the Prime Minister and his Finance Minister will derive no happiness from putting the dreamers in their places.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of December 11, 1885)

New Marine Works—James Fisher's new marine works on Gordon Street, near St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Mr. Fisher did the chief work on the memorial for the Washington monument at Salem, Oregon.

The Canadian Liquor Act—It is understood that the report of the judicial committee of the Privy Council, on the appeal of the Dominion Government against the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada on the liquor licence question, has been prepared. It will be submitted to the Queen at the next meeting of the Privy Council at Windsor, and afterwards given to the public.

Personal News—E. J. Buckley, a Victoria boy, who made his debut at the Royal Victoria Theatre two years ago, is now a leading actor on the American stage. He will visit this city and will play a part at the Victoria Theatre in February. Dr. Walker, H. B. Boush, M. Lenz and Pilot McDonald were passengers from the East Coast to spend Christmas with his family. Charles Kennedy, general agent of the freight and passenger department of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, arrived in the city yesterday in the interest of the pioneer Albert Lea route. D. W. McNeill, Government guide, arrived from Comox yesterday.

Letters to the Editor

No letter to the Editor will be inserted except over the proper signature and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 500 words in length.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

Sir,—Although sponsor of the daylight saving vote which is to be taken at the elections on Thursday, I have refrained from entering the letter-writing campaign because the major opponents of the proposal have been working under cover. They have been spending hundreds of dollars in advertising, but due either to foresight or oversight have not inserted their names in the advertising matter. If these individuals or interests had had the courage to come out in the open I would have been glad to have argued the merits of the case.

However, you topped off your editorial column in Tuesday morning's Colonist with the advice that the citizens of Victoria should defeat daylight saving. This gives me an opportunity to write a few words in support of the proposal, provided you are willing to publish my letter. I am mindful of your influence in the community. Two instances come to my mind at the moment of occasions when the public accepted your advice in civic matters. You advocated support of the grain elevator at Ogden Point and the public voted in favor of it. You advocated the defeat of the technical school and the public voted against it. But despite your stand on daylight saving I still believe that the people of Victoria will see the light—that extra hour of daylight after working hours and that extra hour of darkness in the early morning for more peaceful sleep.

There are endless arguments both for and against daylight saving, but I would like to stress two or three. Practically all of us, excluding the wealthy, will probably spend most of July and August on Vancouver Island. Some may be fortunate enough to take their families to neighboring cities for two weeks, but few of us will have to bother about catching boats or trains out of Victoria. In case we do the time element will be on our side because the boats will not sail until one hour after standard time. That is the midnight boat to Vancouver would leave at 1 o'clock, daylight saving time. As a result we could not miss the boat.

We are on an island and have no direct connection with any other city on the coast. We cannot jump in our automobile at any time and dash to Seattle or Vancouver. Most of us will be found parked on the beaches and lake shores when summer comes, so why not have as much sunlight as possible. And those who attend outdoor entertainments, like the Show Boat, would not sit in darkness and shiver like they did last summer.

Daylight saving has been accepted by Toronto, Montreal, New York and all the other large centres in the East because practically all their inhabitants are indoor workers. Most women are confined to their kitchens most of the day and men and women work in offices, factories, stores and other buildings. Few are outdoor workers. Farmers naturally object to daylight saving, but the city workers, and by that I mean everyone from Cabinet minister to office boy, refused to have their lives dictated by the tillers of the soil. They demanded the extra hour of sunshine and they got it and have it for five months every year. And they all manage to catch boats and trains which continue to operate on standard time.

People sleep better under daylight saving and they save money through consuming less light and through getting their amusement out of doors.

However, I hope every person in Victoria who has the franchise will vote. The daylight saving question has stirred up interest in the civic elections, which, lacking a majority contest, would have been rather quiet. So vote no matter which way you vote on daylight saving. ARCHIE WILLS, 1231 Fairfield Road, Victoria, B.C., December 10, 1935.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

Sir,—I wish to challenge you to proclaim the advertiser of the anti-daylight-saving clock, published in your paper. Anonymous letters, once belittled in your columns, have a different moral significance apparently from anonymous editorials and advertisements. The audacity of a private firm to meddle in public affairs cannot be defended in a democracy.

I wish to state that I am in favor of daylight saving during the summer months in Victoria and do not feel that the intelligence of the populace is so deformed that it cannot add "one" or subtract "one." The real reason, one must conclude, for these anonymous advertisements, is that someone will make less money out of the long-exploited public if that same public adopts daylight saving.

Since you did not publish my last letter protesting anonymous editorials, it is quite probable that you will not publish this one. You seek to discredit anonymous letters, publish anonymous editorials and advertisements, and refuse to publish signed letters if they honestly contest your position.

K. McALLISTER, 1128 Leonard Street, Victoria, B.C., December 8, 1935.

THE COMMON COLD

Sir,—As a problem, the common cold again comes in for editorial comment, and as to the cause—well, it still remains obscure. Should we take a notion, however, to be quite honest with ourselves the cause, or rather causes, for there are many, might prove less obscure. For one thing we dwellers of civilization are over-clothed, not allowing the pores of the skin to throw off the waste. How many allow themselves the luxury of a daily air bath—the whole surface of the skin exposed to the open air?

A Friend to the Aged As the Years Creep On

In the later years of life we start to lose that snap and vigor of our younger days. The blood does not circulate as it once did, the vitality is on the wane, and the nerves not just as steady as they used to be.

Listless sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off, and evidences of a breakdown begin to appear. Those who wish to maintain their health and vigor and retain their energy should use Milburn's H. & N. Nerve Pills at this time of life.

LAND TAX ON INCOME BASIS

Major H. Cuthbert Holmes Speaks to Credit Granters' Association Here

Taxation on real property on the basis of its income rather than its supposed capital: a resurvey of the income tax system to assess incomes between three and ten thousand dollars annually higher; and a Provincial board of assessment were urged by Major H. Cuthbert Holmes as remedies for the present condition of real estate in a luncheon address delivered yesterday before the Credit Granters' Association in Spencer's dining-room.

"Under the normal method of financing, there is no return for owners of real property," said Major Holmes. Therefore, he continued, there was no investment buying. Many firms have been bankrupted by the present system of land taxation, he stated. Mr. Holmes gave examples to illustrate his points. He maintained that a man owning seventy millions of property here would have to have a pension or be on relief before he could meet grocer and baker obligations.

HEAVY BURDEN
Because social service charges had been increased, land taxes were at present high, said Major Holmes. He pointed to Great Britain which had increased its grants to municipalities from 5 to 50 per cent during the past twenty years. The British Columbia Government, however, had handed the entire load of increased social service charges to the municipalities. "Here the Government calls the tune, but does not pay the piper," he added.

As a result of the staggering land taxes, thousands of lots had reverted to municipalities. There were 4,000 alone in Victoria and 20,000 in Vancouver. Major Holmes branded the city as "usurers forced by the Provincial Government." He maintained that investment buying was essential to a properly balanced community. There was none, now. "You are frozen and you are frozen every year," Major Holmes declared.

RELIEF URGED
Major Holmes contended that if the Provincial Government relieved municipalities of one million dollars per year on land taxes, this amount would be spent on repairs to buildings and would start activity in the building industry. Men would return to work and a general stirring up of business would result.

The speaker added that because of the inequalities of the law, persons were not paying on the capital of their mortgages. Consequently, there was little mortgage money for investment.

The result of the remedies, he suggested, would be an increase in employment; liquefying of real property; confidence would be created; an investment market in real estate would be established; more building and building would become the "balance wheel of industry."

MAYORS CONCLUDE WORK AT OTTAWA

Hold Individual Interviews With Committees of Conference of Premiers

OTTAWA, Dec. 10. — Civic heads representing the Dominion Mayors' Conference who came to Ottawa for the Dominion-Provincial parley decided at an informal meeting tonight to return to their homes. Their decision followed individual interviews with Dominion and Provincial members of the unemployment and financial committees, who gave the assurance that the financial plight of municipalities, in the matter of relief, would be given serious consideration.

The two Dominion-Provincial Conference committees considered there was no necessity for the mayoralty representatives to appear before them.

Oak Bay Voters' List.—The Oak Bay Council sat as a court of revision last night to pass formally upon the voters' list for the year. There are 2,875 names on the list, sixty-two more than on last year's list. This figure does not mark the full increase in the number of residents of the municipality, inasmuch as there are included in the list the owners of property, whether residents or not. Each year there are a few owners of vacant lots who allow the holdings to revert to the municipality, which reduces the number to this extent on the list.

CHARITY MATCH BILLED SUNDAY

Esquimalt Seniors to Meet Veterans at Bullen Park In Soccer Fixture

Soccer stars of a decade or two ago will rally to the cause of charity Sunday afternoon at Bullen Park when they don the tops once again to meet the Esquimalt First Division eleven in an exhibition match. The kick-off is set for 2 o'clock and those responsible for arranging the fixture hope to see a large number of fans in attendance.

Bill Stewart, veteran player, who wore an Esquimalt sweater many years ago, is in charge of the veterans and is busy getting his players lined up for the big match. The genial boss of the old-timers stated yesterday that the only concession that he will ask for from the present day eleven is for them to "spot" his players two goals.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Danny Uses His Wits
By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Who hesitates because of fear
May lose the thing he holds most dear.

It happens over and over again among human folks as well as among the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadow. Perhaps it was because he had seen it happen more than once that Danny Meadow Mouse acted as quickly as he did. If he had stopped to think about it, fear might have prevented him from doing as he did and things might have turned out quite differently and not at all so fortunate.

But Danny's wits are sharp and he has learned to use them quickly. There is nothing like danger to sharpen one's wits and Danny, as you know, is in danger a great part of the time. As he sat there peeping out of the little hole in the bank of the Smiling Pool where he had sought safety, he was surrounded by danger and he knew it. It wasn't safe to leave and it wasn't safe to remain. Could anyone possibly be in a worse fix?

He was doing his best to think of some way out of his troubles when he saw the Big Pickerel, which had been hiding under some lily pads, swim out to the middle of the Smiling Pool and there stop close to the surface as if to enjoy the sun. Not two minutes later there was a sharp swishing sound in the air. Danny looked up to see a dark form shooting down out of the sky. It was Plunger the Osprey, often called Fish Hawk. His great claws were spread to seize someone and that someone was the Big Pickerel.

With a great splash Plunger struck the water and disappeared right where the Big Pickerel had been a second before. Grandfather Frog dived from his big green lily pad with a startled "Chug-aram!" Snapper the Turtle sank from sight. Billy Mink disappeared. Reddy Fox stood up on his hind legs the better to see.

With a quick glance up to see that Redtail the Hawk was not watching Danny darted out of his hiding place and scurried along the bank of the Smiling Pool towards the Laughing Brook. He knew that for a few minutes the attention of everybody would be fixed on Plunger. He hoped that no one would notice a scared little Meadow Mouse. He heard the water falling from Plunger and the beating of his great wings as he rose in the air, but he didn't even glance back to see if Plunger had caught the Big Pickerel. He simply made those four legs of his go as fast as

CHAPTER XXVII

Dressing in her prettiest frock of black velvet, and wearing a diaphanous bonnet of the same flatteringly fabric on her golden head, Carol decided that for this one night she would pretend that there was no reason why she shouldn't see Owen. She knew there was no other way of accepting the situation other than to pretend. She was not going to think of yesterday's or of tomorrow, of Gary or of Kathy, and not too much—she hoped—of this evening.

"I really called you because I'm going to be out of a job," she told Owen while they sipped a cocktail in the Savoy lounge.

"Do you mind terribly being just what you are for tonight, an awfully pretty girl who is kind enough to take pity on a duffer like me? I'm a little tired of while-agoed nurses tonight and I'm not at all worried about your loss of a job because you don't need the salary and because you are certain to get another right away," he smiled at her and offered her a cigarette.

"But you're entirely responsible for me," she said patly and gaily. She had never been gay with Owen before. She had never seen him in no gay a mood. It was easy to match her own to his. This is because we are becoming friends, she thought, because neither of us has any reason to feel constrained. She felt less worried that she might be poisoning. Even that thought she discarded. Suppose that she were unscrupulous enough to try to take her cousin's place—what chance would she have? Carol knew very well that she had acquired chic, that she was a pretty girl, but she never dared compare herself to her vivacious cousin, Kathy.

"I'm not so certain that I'll get another right away but if you want me to forget it, I will. I'll be another girl. What other girl would you like me to be?"

"Why don't you be Miss Carol Kennedy. I like her all ways."

"If I were what I ought to be, I'd be a young matron. I'd be Mrs. Somebody, living in New York in the Winter on Long Island in the Summer. I'd have two or three children and be an expert bridge player. I'd know all the smart gossip and how to handle the cook when there were unexpected dinner guests. I'd have strings of girl friends exactly like myself."

"Not you, young lady," he said seriously.

"And why not?" she prodded.

"I'm sure I'd make a good wife." The thought of Gary intruded but she banished it.

"Is that honestly all that you girls think of marriage constituting?" he asked. Carol knew that he was thinking of Kathy and she answered dishonestly.

"Of course, it isn't but we are being light, aren't we?"

"We are," he said with the determination to be light at whatever cost. He too, had been thinking of Kathy, contrasting her with Carol. Kathy was very different from this grave-eyed girl but he loved Kathy as she was. Kathy brought him out of the world of sickness and trouble to which he had dedicated his life, and he loved her for it.

"How would you like to see a marionette show?" he asked and then told her about the little theatre he had found way down town in Little Italy. It was dark and Owen and Carol sat in the darkened, smelly theatre and applauded wildly, cheering and hissing with the audience.

"Supper?" he asked when that was over.

"The air is much too nice to go indoors again. Let's take a ride on top of the bus," she proposed.

"And have you catch cold?" Owen hailed a taxi and ordered the driver to take them uptown and once around the park.

In the taxi Carol's mood of gaiety left her suddenly. It was a speaking silence that surrounded them. Neither of them found anything to say.

say and suddenly Carol found herself in Owen's arms.

Something in her cried out wildly and she stiffened herself. He let her go immediately.

"I'm sorry. I lost my head. I didn't think . . . Kathy . . ."

He took a cigarette from a crumpled package and looked at her miserably.

"That's all right." How cold her voice was. She was shaking with unreasonable anger. She knew it was wrong. She knew he had no right to try to kiss her. She knew she had no right to want him to, but since he had, he might have spared her the truth—she would have realized anyway—it wasn't that it was Carol, it was just that she was a girl. She couldn't say any more.

"I'm truly sorry," he said. "It won't happen again. I promise you." "No." He could hardly hear her speaking. "It can't happen again." "Does that mean that you aren't going to see me again?" Owen asked.

That seems to be the only answer, she replied remotely. I suppose it is as much my fault as yours but I'm sorry it happened.

"There is no question of fault. It was the natural thing to do."

"Possibly," that was all she said. So she had been right; it was the natural thing to do.

"I hope you don't mean that you won't see me again. I . . . I like you, Carol. I enjoy this friendship. It means a great deal to me." Bitterly Carol thought of the selfishness of that remark. And the next moment she knew how unfair she was. Owen couldn't know how she felt. She expected that this friendship he spoke of had the same value to herself. They had had a happy, gay evening, it was enough for him. Therefore, it must have been enough for her. And it would have been if he had not taken her into his arms.

She gave him her hand and a small smile at her door.

"Thank you. We will forget tonight," she said.

"Then I may see you again?" She didn't answer him. She smiled again and walked up the steps to the little yellow door. She intended not to see him ever again. Again if she could prevent it. He would be married to Kathy in a little while and that would be that. She couldn't see the keyhole for the tears that blinded her eyes and filled her whole being with misery. She decided that she would give Gary an answer the next night. Mentally she composed a little note to write him in the morning. But she didn't write to Gary in the morning and the message she had intended to convey was never to be written.

"Close the door," Dr. Harding said to her when she came into the office. "And sit down. I have something confidential to discuss with you."

When Carol was seated he studied her for a moment and then:

"Miss Kennedy, I must ask you to regard what I say with the utmost confidence. I feel sure that you will or I should not bring the matter up."

"I have been called upon to take a case about which, to date, I know nothing and about which, therefore, I have no right to be suspicious that all is not as it seems."

"I am leaving for Chicago next Monday and will be away for a fortnight. I shall defer making my decision about taking the case until my return."

"The reasoning powers, the mental status of the patient are in question. I have recommended that a member of my staff be sent to the patient's home to observe her until my return. I have suggested that you go as a companion nurse. The patient is not ill and requires no medical treatment, therefore your lack of professional nursing experience will not be of any importance. I simply wish you to report to me, on my return, answers to such questions as I shall ask you."

Oh Gorgeous New England

It is mid-October as I write. Five weeks I've spent lecturing in the almost numberless New England cities—the industrial heart of United States—cities that are New England's pride. One hears more glorification of these cities than of their gorgeous environment, more gorgeous than anything my eyes have ever seen in my travels of ten months each year for several years. Color! Color! Color! More and ever more brilliant colors, a riot, a panoply of coloring that becomes more brilliant with every passing day. For here there are almost no spots outside the cities not covered with woods, great oaks, maples, elms, sycamores, beeches, birches, sumacs, scrub oaks and enough evergreens to offset the gorgeousness of the other coloring. Here are almost no farms, only woods and cities, but, oh, such woods, and winding roads and rocks and dells and lakes and ponds and rivers and seashore.

Today, I've played hooky and motored 100 miles up into New Hampshire, only a "talk" at Malden High School en route, and what a day! Surely a red letter day in my next thirty to forty years!

I know of nothing in my long life that has given me more "kick" than this trip through New England unless it is the huge crowds that cram my lecture halls and the avidity with which my books are purchased and read by these intellectual New Englanders, and the enormous growth of demand for Roman Meal, Bekus-Puddy, Lishus and Kofy-Sub at prices 50 per cent. above Canadian prices, because of Customs duty. But the demand for my books and foods is phenomenal wherever they are known. Those who know them do not need to be told why. A sixty days' generous and persistent use of my foods will make anyone a constant user. I do not urge their use upon anyone. I only urge a reasonably persistent trial of them, content to rest the reputa-

NEW CANAL COMPLETED

Germans Construct Waterway to Facilitate Coal and Iron Haulage

Pointing out that the German Government is taking an active interest in improving the present canal system in the Reich, a report from the United States Consulate, Bremen, recently received at the United States Commerce Department, Washington, shows that a new canal project has just been completed and put in operation.

The Coastal Canal begins at the influx of the Hunte River into the Weser River near Elsfleth and runs in a west-southwesterly direction to the city of Oldenburg. The second section continues from Oldenburg to the village of Kampe. It is formed by a part of the former Hunte-Emms Canal.

THE THIRD SECTION

The latter canal branches off the Coastal Canal at Kampe, continuing from there northwesterly to the Leda, a tributary of the Ems River, to the town of Leer. The third section of the Coastal Canal, extending from Kampe to Dorpen, follows the line of no previous canal or river and has taken several years to construct. This is the most recently completed section of the Coastal Canal.

The Coastal Canal, it is pointed out, has been constructed with a view to creating a favorable inland waterway between the Rhine-Westphalian industrial district and the ports of the lower Weser River. Up to the present, the inland waterway cargo shipments between these districts were possible only on the Mittelland Canal from Bevergern to Minden and from there downstream on the Weser River to the ports.

WILL CUT EXPENSES

It is expected that considerable quantities of cargo will be shipped

NOT APPLYING FOR LICENCES

Complete Paralysis of Australia Shipping Threatened Over Government Move

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 10 (P).—Complete paralysis of Australian shipping threatened today as the sailors of this port refused to apply for workers' licenses.

The Government had announced a system of licenses for all personnel in the merchant marine would be introduced today. Objecting to a provision that licenses may be withheld from marine employees guilty of "striking illegally," Sydney seamen voted unanimously not to apply for licenses.

Vancouver Shipping

VANCOUVER, Dec. 10 (P).—More than 500 men were working on the waterfront today with ex-strikers continuing to register for re-employment at the British Columbia Shipping Federation Hall. New men will be absorbed in waterfront crews as labor requirements develop, federation officials said.

Coastwise longshore labor, one of the groups which terminated the five-months-old strike yesterday at the order of the central strike committee, is receiving increasing calls to provide gangs for coasting work.

The St. Frederika Lensen, originally slated to be back in commission on December 13, the date limit in the repair contract, will have all repairs completed by Wednesday and will shift to Vancouver for a grain cargo for United Kingdom, Burrard Drydock Co., Ltd., of North Vancouver, announced today.

The vessel was damaged when a fire broke out in her engine room several weeks ago while berthed at the pool elevator.

The Ms. Oregon Maru, of the Y.K.K. Line, is due here Wednesday with a cargo of 75,000 cases of Japanese oranges, a carload of silver and a carload of silk.

Outward the vessel will load with 400 tons of grain, a large parcel of paper pulp and sulphate of ammonia.

Ms. Canada, of the Johnson Line of Sweden, is due here Wednesday with a European cargo and four passengers. She will load 6,500 tons of British Columbia cargo and leave here with sixteen passengers, a full list.

FRASER PORT EXPORTS RISE

Big Increase in Apple, Flour, Fish and Canned Salmon Shipments

NEW WESTMINSTER, Dec. 10 (P).—Cargoes handled through the port of New Westminster during November totaled 69,603 tons, an increase of 727 tons over the same month last year, although there were three less ships in port last month than in the previous November.

Shipment of apples was almost four times as large, with 263,669 boxes passing through here last month, compared with 69,334 boxes in November, 1934.

Export of flour and frozen fish doubled, and canned salmon tripled, while logs totaled 268,000 feet and lath, 800,000 pieces, compared with no shipments in November last year.

Two thousand tons of hardware were imported last month and 397 tons of sulphate of potash compared with no imports of these commodities the previous November.

MORE INFORMATION REGARDING TREATMENT OF ACNE-PIMPLES

The exact cause of acne (pimples) is unknown but it is known that treatment by X-rays will clear up most cases, just as insulin protects against the symptoms of diabetes, and liver against the symptoms of anemia (thin blood).

However, it has been found that a number of these cases "cured" by the X-rays have further attacks months and sometimes years after the application of the X-ray treatment.

Thus at the annual meeting of The American Medical Association some months ago Dr. Jeffrey C. Michael, Houston, Texas, stated that other treatment besides that of the X-ray was necessary in many cases of acne.

Research men now report three types of acne, as follows:

1. Acne of the face, especially cheeks and chin in young girls and women, due to some condition of the sex glands; the symptoms being worse at the monthly period.

2. Acne of the trunk or body. Constipation, drooping of abdominal organs, and chronic irritation of the lower bowel, are usually present. This type is due to stasis or slowness of the bowel movements.

3. Thyroid type of acne in which the pimples are very large and found both on face and body. Enlargement and increased activity of the thyroid gland in the neck is thought to be the cause.

The treatment now advised is that each case be investigated from various standpoints (a) possibility of infection of teeth, tonsils, intestine, thin blood, the kind of food eaten, and activity or non-activity of the large bowel (constipation); (b) the age of the patient; (c) the mildness or severity of the case; (d) the gland factor.

This means: (1) Any infection should be removed, proper diet given, and bowel made active.

2. If patient is very young it is not considered wise to use the X-ray treatment but in older patients (18 to 25) the chances for a permanent cure are about eighty in every hundred cases treated.

3. Patients up to the age of eighteen should be treated by improving the general health and the use of stimulating ointments to the affected skin.

I have spoken before about the satisfactory results explained by two Chicago research physicians by the use of viosterol, beginning with ten drops daily, gradually increasing the dose until at the end of two weeks twenty drops daily are given, and continuing to give the twenty drops daily for two more weeks.

JAPAN BUILDS FAST TANKERS

Vessels Are Designed to Serve as Naval Auxiliaries if Needed

Japan has launched a new programme for the construction of at least ten new express motor tankers, with speeds ranging from fifteen to nineteen knots, of which six are already building.

All of the new carriers are being designed for wartime use as naval auxiliaries, and are being constructed under Government supervision.

First to arrive on the Coast, and due early in January, according to information from California, will be the Mitsubishi fifteen-knot carrier San Limon Maru, said to represent the last word in tanker development, including a new-type Mitsubishi solid-injection Diesel engine and a pumping system said to be capable of discharging the 13,000-ton cargo of the vessel in little more than five hours.

Others building include a similar vessel for Asano Bussan Kaisha; two eighteen-knot tankers for Mitsui Bussan Kaisha; and two nineteen-knot carriers, one for Yamashita Shipping Company and one for Kawasaki Kisen Kaisha. Both of these latter ships will be built to carry raw silk cargoes from Japan and 93,000-barrel oil cargoes home from California. They are practically identical in design to "K" Line's new Tatemaru Maru.

Ship Goes Ashore On Oregon Coast Near Empire City

SEATTLE, Dec. 10.—The freighter Point Loma, a steel vessel, was aground and asking assistance at Empire City, Coos Bay, Ore., coast guard headquarters here were advised today.

The coast guard cutter Pulaski was dispatched from Coos Bay to give aid.

The Point Loma is registered in Lloyd's at 2,119 tons, with a length of 251 feet, a beam of forty-five feet and a depth of eighteen feet. She is ashore not far from the yards where she was built, having been constructed at Portland in 1918 by the Albina Engineering & Machinery Works. She is owned by the Hart-Wood Lumber Company, and her home port is San Francisco.

Conversion of Ships Denied by Steamship Lines

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 10 (P).—Officials of the Cunard-White Star Line today denied reports certain ships of the line would shortly be converted to use as troopships by the British Government.

(Reports Sunday said the Canadian Pacific Liner Montclare and one or more Cunarders would be placed under charter to the Admiralty. Officials of both lines in Montreal yesterday said they had not been advised of any such plan.)

Queen of England Invited on First Voyage of Vessel

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Queen Mary of England will be invited by the Cunard-White Star Line to be a passenger on the maiden voyage of her ocean-titanic, the giant St. Queen Mary, which will sail from England for New York late next May.

The London Daily Express had a story regarding the invitation yesterday. It is not thought, however, the Queen will be able to make the voyage. She officiated at the christening of the giant last year at Clydebank, where the ship is being built.

FREIGHTER FROM ST. LAWRENCE IN

Hopecrest Here Yesterday With Capacity Cargo of General for British Columbia Ports

From St. Lawrence River ports, the freighter Hopecrest was alongside Rithet Piers yesterday morning discharging cargo. The Hopecrest arrived at 1:30 o'clock with a full load of 6,000 tons aboard for British Columbia ports. She proceeded to Vancouver in the afternoon.

While at the local dock the Hopecrest unloaded a variety of cargo, a consignment of motor cars for Victoria dealers from Ontario factories being one of the principal items.

The Hopecrest is in the service of the Vancouver-St. Lawrence Line, and her skipper is Captain James Hardy. The next ship in the same service to arrive here will be the Dalcroix, which is expected about December 27. She, too, will come in from Montreal and Quebec, and will be the last ship for this Coast out of the river before Spring, the next sailings being from Halifax and St. John.

SETTLEMENT ANTICIPATED

Expected Peace Plan Agreement Will Be Signed and Work Resumed

SEATTLE, Dec. 10 (P).—Prompts termination of the thirty-two-day-old Puget Sound ferry strike hinged today on the outcome of a meeting at which operators and union workers are to consider signing an agreement to abide by a peace plan suggested by Governor Clarence D. Martin.

The way for a resumption of peace negotiations pending a final settlement of the strike was opened last night when spokesmen for operators and the unions announced they had accepted the peace terms of the Governor.

If the operators and union leaders sign the agreement today the men will return to work immediately, C. W. Deal, president, Ferryboatmen's Union of the Pacific, said.

Capt. F. E. Lovejoy, president of the owners' association, said the signing of an armistice would result in full restoration of service by tomorrow.

PROPOSAL SECRET

The Governor's proposal had been secret until its acceptance by the Ferryboatmen's Union and the Masters, Mates and Pilots' Association last night.

The proposal calls for the appointment of a commission of three by the Governor to review the issues decided by the former arbitration board. The unions struck against the terms prescribed by the former board.

The new commission "may require and consider any other factors deemed necessary for the determination of wages, hours and working conditions." It would complete its work by January 20, its decision to be retroactive to December 9 and remain in force until October 1.

Boycott Lifted At South Coast Port Yesterday

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Dec. 10 (P).—Lifting of the "hot cargo" boycott, on gulf freight speeded up harbor activity today.

The International Seamen's Union assigned a crew to the Mathew Luckenbach with orders to move the ship to San Francisco, probably today. The freighter's cargo was discharged several days ago under a temporary truce.

End Bad Cough Quickly, at One Fourth the Cost

Home-Mixed! No Cooking! Easy!

Thousands of housewives have found that, by mixing their own cough medicine, they get a much more effective remedy. They use a recipe at only one-fourth the usual cost of cough medicine, but which really breaks up distressing coughs in a hurry.

From any drugist get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and add granulated sugar syrup to fill the bottle. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and 1 cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and makes a really effective remedy. Keeps perfectly and children love its taste.

Its quick action in loosening the phlegm, helping to clear the air passages and soothing away irritation, has caused it to be used universally throughout Canada.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine in concentrated form, well known for its effect on throat membranes. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

started for Montreal at 8:45 tonight.

Paul Lefleur, twenty-nine-year-old accountant, left the Hull branch of the Banque Provinciale Du Canada about 10:15 a.m. last Wednesday with Nadeau. Their job was to take the money in Lefleur's car to the Ottawa clearing house. Nadeau was fatally wounded in the car. Lefleur was charged with murder.

Jean Beausoleil, twenty-three-year-old ledged keeper, was alleged to have known the robbery was to take place. He was charged, although he was at work when the slaying took place. Joe Rochon, forty-two, of Ottawa, was alleged to have plotted the hold-up. He was charged.

Roger Drapeau, twenty-seven-year-old Montreal painter, and Arthur Cardin, twenty-three, of Montreal, were not charged, but were held as material witnesses. They were said to have withdrawn from a plot to help in the robbery before the event occurred.

former Hull clothing store proprietor, and George Potvin, missing Hull police claimed they took part in the

OTTAWA, Dec. 10 (U.P.).—Mr. Justice Maclean, president of the Exchequer Court of Canada, late today adjourned until tomorrow hearing of further argument on the appeal of the vessel Princess Alice, operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway, and West Vancouver Ferry No. 5, owned by the Municipality of West Vancouver.

Appeal is from a judgment of Mr. Justice Martin, local judge in Admiralty at Vancouver, who held the two boats were equally to blame for their collision last February 5, in First Narrows Channel, Burrard Inlet. A woman passenger was drowned when the ferry sank.

Morning and afternoon sittings were occupied with submissions of W. Martin Griffin, of Vancouver, acting for the municipality. He quoted evidence given at Vancouver by the crew of the ferryboat, and cited cases in support of his contentions that the Princess Alice was on the wrong side of the channel at the time of the accident. Mr.
Griffin will continue his argument when the court reconvenes in the morning.

J. E. McMullen, of Vancouver, C.P.R. counsel, argued yesterday the ferry had been at fault in being on the wrong side of the channel.

Gladys Glad
On Beauty

A Hollywood hair stylist, who arranges the tresses of many of our cinema luminaries, says that Marion Davies is one of the very few women who can wear virtually any type of coiffure. Marion has regular, finelychiseled features, and even the most extreme of coiffures becomes her, he says. But as a rule, she selects soft, feminine hair styles, because they provide a perfect frame for her face.

Most girls, of course, are not quite so fortunate. The average woman must select her coiffures very cautiously. She must select hair styles that conceal her bad points and enhance her good points. Yet with the large variety of hair arrangements now fashionable, she shouldn't find this at all difficult.

One of the smartest of the new Winter coiffures is designed especially for the girl with delicate, plangent features. The hair is parted on the left and combed straight back off the forehead. A horizontal wave is then fashioned at each temple, and the hair combed behind the ears. Some fluffy ringlets are fashioned at the front of each ear for softness. Then the hair is waved flat to the head at the back, and a number of small pin curls made.
When the hair is combed out, these curls are brushed around the finger to form soft, horizontal curls at the nape of the neck.

SUITS OVAL FACE

Another of the new coiffures designed for the Winter season is ideal for the oval-faced type. The hair is parted in the centre, and waved softly back off the face and behind the ears. Very tiny tendrils of hair are then arranged in wispy ringlets, extending from each temple to each ear. Their wave is continued around the back of the head, and the ends of the hair are fashioned into flat curls.

A third attractive Winter coiffure entails a side part. The hair should be parted on the side and softly waved away from the face. After the last wave, the hair is combed back over each ear so that just about half of the ear is exposed.
Then this hair, with that at the back of the head, is fashioned into numerous brush curls. And when the hair is properly combed out, these fluffy curls cover the back of the head from the hairline on up midway to the crown.

BARITONE STARS IN CAPITOL FILM

Lawrence Tibbett Has Leading Role
In "Metropolitan"—Strong
Supporting Cast

The magic of great song is the principal attraction at the Capitol Theatre today, where Lawrence Tibbett is starring in 20th Century's "Metropolitan," the bright and charming romance of a young singer.

Pictured with sympathy, vigor and an abundance of sparkling comedy,
"Metropolitan" traces Tibbett's career as a young singer who can brook no delay, launches out on the world on his own, meets discouragement, disappointment, romance and,
at last—recognition.

His trail crosses that of Virginia Bruce, and there is affection between them immediately. But because Alice Brady, who controls the money in their operatic company, is jealously fond of him, they must conceal their affection.

Between placating Alice Brady and attending to the wild vagaries of George Marion, Sr., the orchestral conductor, Tibbett has his work cut out for him. When, at last, Miss Brady deserts the company, all his anguish seems to have gone for nothing. But ingenuity and courage solve the problem, and the climax presents Tibbett as the hero of the evening, wildly applauded after his sensational debut.

President Today

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (U.P.).—Club-owners of the American Baseball Association tonight postponed until tomorrow the election of a successor to Thomas Hickey as president.
With a huge volume of other business to handle, the club owners were unable to agree on a new president.

The association voted to adopt the "Shaughnessy" play-off system, originated by Frank Shaughnessy, of Montreal Royals, and used successfully by the International League for several seasons. At the same time it was voted to resume the "Little World Series" with the International League.

UTAH MATMAN WILL GRAPPLE SAM LEATHERS

Brother Jonathan to Meet Chicagoan in Main Event On Saturday's Card

Lanky Sam Leathers, 200-pound Chicago pachyderm, who delighted the fans with his clever wrestling here three weeks ago, is coming back. Promoter Fred Richardson, local wrestling impresario, yesterday, signed the Chicago matman for the top slot on Saturday's programme at the Tillicum gymnasium.

Leathers pinned the broad shoulders of Ivan Managoff, Russian squirmier, twice in three rounds in his initial appearance. His exhibition of wrestling was so satisfying that the local followers of the game clamored for his return. Saturday he will climb over the ropes to match holds with Brother Jonathan, Mormon preacher, from Salt Lake City, Utah. The bout is scheduled to go eight ten-minute rounds.

Cool, both on the offensive and under fire, Leathers, the orthodox type of grappler, has made many friends in the wrestling game. The apparent ease with which he applies the many holds, and the uncanny way in which he escapes many punishing ones applied by his opponents, has made Leathers one of the most popular men to show at the local palace of squirm.

RUGGED GRAPPLER

Brother Jonathan, bewiskered Utah squirmier, is another of the rugged grapplers who hands out plenty of rough tactics. He craves action from the first sound of the gong, and his one concern is to best his man as soon and as early as possible. Leathers is no palooka at this squirming business, and if his previous exhibition here is any criterion, Brother Jonathan is going to have a busy evening.

With the top bout complete, Promoter Richardson is busy lining up the remainder of the card.

RED STACKS TO MEET STUDENTS

Undeclared Cage Squads Will Clash Tonight at High School Gymnasium

The basketball spotlight will shift from the senior quintettes to the intermediates this evening at the Victoria High School gymnasium, when the Chinese Students and Island Tug Red Stacks, undefeated leaders of the intermediate "A" boys' division, battle it out for the coveted top berth in the championship race. Carded as the second game on the regular Wednesday programme, the fixture will get under way about 8:30 o'clock.

Hudson's Bay and Doo Dads, men's senior "C" quintettes, will swing into action in the curtain-raiser billed to get under way at 7:30 o'clock. The final encounter on the card will bring together Hoyle-Brown and Tillicum, men's senior "B" hoopers. Well up in the standing, the merchants will be out for a couple of points at the expense of the clubmen to improve their chances of gaining a play-off berth. Tillicums, somewhat behind in their schedule, have yet to chalk up their initial win, and if they want to be in the running for the post-season play-offs they must get going.

Secretary Frank Elliott announced yesterday that there will be a three-team play-off series for the men's senior "B" championship. Fixtures carded for Saturday and next Wednesday follow:

December 14-15, women's Island knock-out final, Port Alberni vs. Victoria Units; 8:15, intermediate "A," Hoyle-Brown vs. Aces; 9:15, Dominion vs. Seattle DeMolay.

December 18-19, Hudson's Bay vs. Doo Dads, senior "C," 8:30, intermediate "A," Regents vs. Kingham & Gillespie; 9:30, intermediate "A," Island Tug vs. Trade-Ats.

BRIGGS HONORED FOR BRAVE DEED

Made Honorary Member of Victoria Kennel Club for Saving Dog's Life

In recognition of his bravery in risking his life to save a small dog on a burning boat, Jack Briggs, well-known local sportsman, has been awarded an honorary membership of the Victoria Kennel Club.

Notification of the award was made yesterday in a letter to Mrs. F. B. Briggs, mother of the injured boy, from B. Davidson, secretary of the Victoria Kennel Club. Briggs, in effecting the rescue of the small dog, was severely burned about the face and hands and suffered a fractured shoulder, and is still in the hospital. Dr. E. L. McEwen, attending physician, stated yesterday that there will be no tell-tale scars on Briggs' face as the result of the burning.

Winnipeg Capturing Dominion Grid Championship

The smart plunging Winnipeggers seen engineering their way to a spectacular victory over the powerful Hamilton Tigers, Eastern titleholders, in the Canadian senior grid final, at Hamilton, by an 18-12 score, in the biggest upset of the current season. The Tigers entered the game slight favorites to trim the Westerners, who have been knocking at the championship door for the past twelve years without success. The East were surprised when a determined Western squad started plunging their way to victory in most convincing style. More than 9,000 fans braved the inclement weather to watch the struggle.

Gordie Wallace Smashes Way to Easy Fight Win

VANCOUVER, Dec. 10 (P).—Gordon Wallace, of Vancouver, Canadian welterweight boxing champion, decisively defeated Otto Blackwell, colored fighter from Los Angeles, in their ten-round non-title bout at the Auditorium here tonight, before a packed house of about 4,000 fans. The bout was in aid of a newspaper Santa Club fund.

Uplands Golfers Will Tee Off in Turkey Tournery

Members of the Uplands Golf Club have been busy sharpening up their games for the big competition Sunday. The reason is that "gobblers" will go to the winners of the eighteen-hole medal round under full handicap. Post entries will be accepted and the players are asked to arrange for their partners and starting times. The newly-elected captain, Bill Newcombe, expects a big entry.

McCoy Hands Former Champion Bad Defeat

French-Canadian Had Bob Olin Reeling and Groggy at Finish of Ten-Round Bout in Montreal—Sonny Jones Is Awarded Verdict

MONTREAL, Dec. 10 (P).—Rugged Al McCoy, of Boston and Montreal, pounded Bob Olin, of New York, reeling and groggy tonight in a ten-round bout that saw the former light-heavyweight champion almost hurled from the comeback trail to the title he lost to John Henry Lewis.

McCoy, struggling to regain the ground he lost when defeated by Britain's Jock MacAvoy, steadily wore the New Yorker down with a barrage of leather to the body and head. His vicious attack reached its climax in the two final rounds, when Olin sagged and reeled about the ring almost out of his feet.

Shorn of his title by Lewis, the Phoenix, Arizona, negro, on October 30, Olin showed to advantage in the early rounds tonight with a hard right but wilted under the steady rain of punches McCoy threw at his body. The New Yorker was at his best in the fourth round, when he nailed McCoy with a jarring right cross when the French-Canadian left himself wide open.

McCoy, born Florian Lebrasseur in Beauce County, Quebec, but an early emigrant to the New England states, opened up gradually. In the initial rounds he rapped hard 1-15 to Olin's face and the former champion was unable to cope with the stinging blows.

SONNY JONES WINS

Sonny Jones, smart Vancouver negro, continued his string of victories in Eastern rings tonight by outpointing Henri Auger, of Montreal, in six rounds.

Auger overshadowed the Pacific Coast fighter in the first round but it was all he showed. Recent victor over Eddie Carroll, of Ottawa, Jones settled to work in the second and from then on held the upper hand. The Westerner used both hands in driving the Montrealer about the ring, with emphasis on his darting left.

JOHANNESBURG, Dec. 10 (P).—Australian touring cricketers reared a ten wickets victory over the Transvaal today. The home players compiled 201 and 247 against 411 for nine, declared, and 40 for no wickets by the Australians.

For the tourists, Chippfield scored 105, not out, Darling, 106 and Fingleton 99.

SIMMONS SOLD TO DETROIT TIGERS FOR $75,000

White Sox Fielder Goes to Champions For Handsome Sum

Former American League Batting Champion Figures in Straight Cash Deal—Fox and Marcum Sold to Red Sox for $150,000 and Players—Mack Expects to Sell Others

By PAUL MICKELSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—In an exciting deal for baseball power, the great Jimmy Fox today was sold to Boston Red Sox, and Al Simmons, of Chicago White Sox, his teammate on the now dismantled Athletic championship team of five years ago, was sent to the world champion Detroit Tigers.

In a straight cash transaction, watching each other's move, the Red Sox and Tigers announced their deals in rapid succession at the big major league player mart which sizzled with action.

The Red Sox, backed by the most lavish spender baseball ever has known in Tom Yawkey, revealed that Fox and Pitcher Johnny Marcum had been obtained from Philadelphia for Pitcher Gordon "Dusty" Rhodes and rookie catcher George Savino and cash, estimated at $150,000.

Shortly thereafter the Tigers announced they had purchased Simmons for $75,000 in cash.

Meanwhile, the National League turned active control of the "ophan" Boston Braves to Robert Quinn, retiring general manager of Brooklyn Dodgers. Under the new organization plans, Quinn will serve as president and general manager for the club stockholders. C. F. Adams, former owner, will have nothing to do with the team, except that Quinn, regarded as one of the shrewdest builders in the game, will be expected to pay Adams off for the money he put into the Braves.

Inside information was that Quinn would have ten years to pay back Adams' losses, estimated at $325,000.

In selling Fox, one of the most sought-after players in all baseball, the aged Connie Mack supplied the final touch in the dismantling of his famous Athletic team that ruled the sport in 1929 and 1930. Jimmy was the last to go, out-staying such diamond greats as Mickey Cochrane, Simmons, "Lefty" Grove, George Earnshaw, Rube Walberg, Jimmy Dykes, Mule Haas and Max Bishop.

Connie, forced to sell by lack of patronage at Philadelphia, and again starting all over at seventy-three, realized more than $500,000 from his stars.

Unless all guesses of baseball men are bad, Connie won't stop selling. Reliable reports are that he has sold or will sell infielder Eric McNair and outfielder Roger Cramer to the Red Sox for $200,000 more. Announcement of that sale, which should make the Red Sox prohibitive favorites, along with the Tigers, to win the 1936 American League pennant, is expected to be made some time in January. Mack neither would deny nor affirm such reports today.

The American League unanimously voted against night baseball. Wally Schang, former Athletic catcher and manager of the Muskogee, Okla., Western Association club last season, was signed as coach by the Cleveland Indians.

Pitcher Allyn Stout and Second Baseman Al Cucinello, who went to St. Louis Cardinals from New York Giants in the Roy Parmelee-Burgess Whitehead deal, were sent to the Card farm of Columbus, in the American Association.

GERMAN WILL MEET LOUIS NEXT SUMMER

Max Schmeling Signs for Bout With Detroit Sensation in June

By EDDIE BRIEZE

Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP).—Max Schmeling signed on the dotted line today to meet Joe Louis, the negro punching sensation, in a fifteen-round bout in the Yankee Stadium here next June.

Mike Jacobs' Twentieth Century Sporting Club landed the plum, expected to gross boxing's second $100,000 gate in less than a year.

Each fighter will receive 20 per cent of the net gate, with Mrs. W. R. Hearst's Milk Fund taking 10 per cent of the top.

The German walked into Jacobs' office and signed within half an hour after the New York State Athletic Commission told him he could not fight Jimmy Braddock for the heavyweight title until he had disposed of Louis.

Louis agrees he will not sign for any more fights after the three he has booked with Paulino Uzcudun in the Garden, Friday night, with Isidor Gastanga in Havana, December 29, and with Charlie Retzlaff in Chicago, January 31.

Schmeling gave Mike Jacobs a year's option on his services in the event he defeats Louis.

Provincial Fencing Championships Open Saturday Afternoon

Men's and Women's Singles Titles Will Be at Stake At Crystal Garden—Strong Vancouver Contingent Coming Here for Tournament

With Vancouver, Shawanigan Lake School and the Victoria Fencing Club members competing, the British Columbia men's and women's singles fells championships will be staged on Saturday in the south ballroom of the Crystal Garden. The matches will commence at 4 o'clock with the preliminary rounds. Semifinals and finals will start at 7 o'clock.

The handsome Colonist Challenge Cup will go to the men's singles champion, while the women's champion will receive the Victoria Fencing Club's trophy.

Six of the Mainland's most brilliant fencers, under the direction of Leonard Kuyper, former Dutch champion, will make the trip here to compete in the provincial meet. From Shawanigan Lake School will come another half-dozen of the school's best-dressed students, with C. W. Whittie in charge.

Members of the Victoria Fencing Club had a good workout yesterday evening in preparation for the coming meet, and are looking forward to meeting the Vancouver and Shawanigan Lake School representatives. Those who will carry the colors of the local club into the tournament include Miss W. Taylor, Miss Margaret Lindsay, Miss Margaret Whyte, Miss Bolton, Jerry Myers, E. Smith and J. Arnett.

Officials for the meet were announced last night as follows: Director, Fred Ellison; Judges, C. W. Twite, Shawanigan Lake School; Bill Roper, Victoria High School; Leonard Kuyper, Vancouver Amateur Fencing Club; J. Sharp, Banff Springs Amateur Fencing Club, and Ian Eisenhardt, director of provincial recreation, Vancouver; announcer, W. O. Findlay, and Dominion representative and scorer, Miss Georgia Tapley.

EXHIBITION FEATURES

In addition to the championship events there will be two exhibition features. Leonard Kuyper and Ian Eisenhardt will give a demonstration in the use of dueling swords, and Kuyper and Arnett will show how to use sabres in tournament fixtures.

Saturday's meet will be the first of its kind to be staged here for more than two decades, but officials in charge of the tournament stated yesterday that indications point to a bumper crowd being on hand to witness the matches. With the cream of the Mainland talent opposing Shawanigan Lake School and the Victoria Fencing Club, some keen fixtures should be witnessed.

Hill's Corner to Oppose Capitals

Wimpy's Capitals and Hill's Corner, leading juvenile soccer eleven, will provide the feature attraction on Saturday's Lower Island Juvenile Football Association programme, when they come together at Victoria West Park. W. J. Cull will referee.

At Bullen Park, Esquimalt Meat Market, cellar occupants, will be at home to the third place Victoria West Cubs. Edgar Borde will handle the whistle. Both matches will commence at 10:30 o'clock.

FINANCE COMMERCE MARKETS

Stock and Bond Prices Drop at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP).—Investors and traders, unsettled by confusion surrounding the world price of silver, sold metals and other shares freely today, driving the stock market down for net losses of from 1 to 6 points.

While steepest declines took place in the mines, drops of 1 to 2 or more points were scattered throughout the rest of the list. A number of specialists, however, bucked the trend for gains.

Measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks the market receded .8 of a point to 54.7. Transactions totaled 2,370,099, compared with 2,542,330 on Monday.

The cut of a full cent in the price of the imported metal at New York to 63.4 cents an ounce, followed a mark-down of 5-8 of a cent yesterday.

It was Monday's price-chipping money experts said, which brought heavy selling into the London market. The bulk of the liquidation there, they said, came from Far Eastern holders of the white metal, and who were uncertain over the United States Treasury buying policy.

No opening price for the metal was set in the British financial capital owing to the reported absence of United States Treasury bids.

Nervousness in other financial markets made itself felt in corporate bonds and prices eased small fractions to around a point.

Soft spots were found in most all sections, however. Italian Government 4's made an extreme advance of 4 points.

WHEAT PRICES LITTLE CHANGED

Futures Unchanged to Eighth Higher at Winnipeg—Export Selling Strong

WINNIPEG, Dec. 10 (AP).—Export sales of the past few days were reflected on the grain market here today with the lifting of hedges against an overseas movement of some 1,000,000 bushels of wheat.

The market closed unchanged to 1-cent higher in spite of liberal selling.

December ended at 83 5-8, May 87 1-4 to 87 3-8 and July 87 3-4 cents.

Liberal offerings were attributed to the Canadian wheat board.

San Antonio—Has demonstrated the degree of success established at that leading gold producer of Manitoba through the declaration of a dividend of 7 cents per share, payable December 20.

Pickle Creek—Has disclosed average gold content of approximately $35 per ton in the ore so far opened at the 500-foot level. The average width is close to three feet. This is as good, if not actually better, than the average at upper levels.

Noranda—Plans to go ahead this winter with development of hydro-electric power of its own. Lower costs are the objective, with a view toward still further increase in the volume of payable ore—already estimated at 28,000,000 tons.

Lamaque Gold—Is up to 450 tons of ore per day. An important feature at this property is that the present production is based upon values of around $10 or more per ton, whereas the preliminary work has, in addition, indicated an extremely large tonnage of very low grade on which a mine of particularly large tonnage may ultimately be based.

Paymaster—A fine diamond drill intersection has been obtained by Paymaster Porcupine Mines in a hold from the bottom 425-foot level at the Heinz or No. 6 shaft. At a depth of 180 feet below the level the following assays were returned across a total width of 44 ins.; 1.7 ozs. over 21 ins., 68.4 ozs. over 3 ins., and 38 ozs. over 20 ins. The average grade for the 44-in. intersection would be $68.08, or $197.15 per ton. Some good ore is also being obtained in raising from the 1200 level at the deep No. 5 shaft workings. November production figures are estimated by officials at about $59,820, which compares very well with October's record output of $59,872. December is expected to be a very good month.

Buffalo Ankerite—Is stated to have again set a new high monthly record in November with production at $102,180. This compares with $102,124 in October, which constitutes previous high. According to unofficial reports, it is stated that the Buffalo Ankerite-Marbun Gold Mines merger will come up for final consideration very shortly, and engineers reports show that the two companies will benefit from this arrangement in many ways.

McWatters—It is estimated that McWatters in 1935 will show net earnings of 20 cents per share. November production is estimated at $60,000, December output is expected to reach $65,000, and with total operating costs in neighborhood of only $7 per ton, milled, the company is realizing a very satisfactory profit. By year end it is anticipated

CALGARY MARKET BUSY

CALGARY, Dec. 10 (AP).—Officials of the Calgary Stock Exchange today added an extra hour to the morning session to meet demands of unusual activity. Monday sales totaled 94,318 shares, a new high since the Summer of 1933. Issues held steady today following an upward spurt Monday.

Guard against prejudice this day. Be careful it does not cause you to form an erroneous opinion. Many a dislike can be traced to its befogging effect upon one's sense of justice, and ability to formulate an unbiased estimate regarding individual worth. Do not delay decisions in regard to business transactions deserving prompt attention this day, if you would avoid trouble. Deal with facts, not theories, as the average person you are apt to contact is likely to be almost painfully practical. Do not in your social activities take anything for granted. It will pay to have clear understandings regarding plans or engagements. Married and engaged couples, as well as those contemplating marriage must be careful that optimism does not sweep away conservative ideas, especially

Jane Dixon Says:

THE WATCHFUL WAITER IS NOT MUCH OF AN INSPIRATION TO LOVE

How many times have I asked women to use their instinct instead of their wishing rod as the measure of a man's affection? I haven't kept count myself, but I do know that not a week passes but that somewhere in this column appears the unalterable truth—it is not what you want so much to believe that is the truth. It's what the use of your instinct and an honest search of your heart reveal that is the truth.

Don't wear desire for a blindfold.
Don't use excuses for a poultice when that you need is a good, sound common sense.
Be as honest with yourself as you would like others to be with you.
Face fact. Or, as the underworld so pithily puts it: "Be game enough to take the rap."

Dear Jane Dixon: I'm twenty-six. The young man in whom I am interested is five months older.

We've been the best of friends for ten years. During these years there have been intervals when we did not "date," but both were having dates with other friends. We'd see one another, however, by chance, and have friendly chats.

For the past two years we have gone together regularly. I'm very much in love with this young man.

DOES HE LOVE HER?

He says he has never been in love, but that he thinks more of me than of any other girl. He has confidence in me, and so have I in him. We never quarrel or even fuss. He seems always to enjoy my company.

There's this—his father is dead, and he has been and is the sole support of his mother.

His job does not pay enough to provide for his mother and a home of his own.

I have a job, but make less than $100 a month, and don't know whether or not I could keep it if I married.

From what I have told you, do you think this young man loves me, and does not tell me so because he knows it is impossible under the circumstances for us to marry now?

I just don't understand how he could be so good to me for such a long time, unless he does love me, do you?—Unsigned

HER HEART SHOULD TELL HER

Answer: Tell me truly, my dear, don't you really know, away down there in the secret cavern of your heart, whether or not the young man loves you?

Haven't you a suspicion whether the answer is "yes" or "no?" If you have such a suspicion, accept it as instinct and be pretty certain that it is justified.

I hesitate to dash your hopes, but in all honesty, from your letter, I must conclude that if the young man loves you, he is not aware of it. He was frank enough to tell you he has never been in love.

It may very well be he is so accustomed to having you within hailing distance, that no realization has come to him of what life might be without you.

Against this, check the fact that you have gone on, both of you, for extended periods of time, without one another.

Of course, he knew all the time you were nearby. Subconsciously he was aware of the fact you were waiting for him.

The watchful waiter is not much of an inspiration to love.

ADVISES A HEART-TO-HEART TALK

It may be, as you hope, that the young man is too gallant, in the face of his obligations, to declare his love.

This too, I must doubt.

Love does not take ten years—even ten lean years—to declare itself.

Love is a flame.

Your young man may be the exception that proves the rule.

It is high time both of you made a decision.

Have a heart-to-heart talk with him. Explain to him that you fear the two of you are drifting nowhere—unless there is some definite anchorage toward which you may now together.

THE PEACE IDEAL

Sir,—Having read Mr. Albert Hall's letter on "War and Religion" published in your issue of the 7th instant, I wish to make a few comments.

In answer to the many Biblical quotations, might I bring to your correspondent's attention, the sixth commandment of God, "Thou Shalt Not Kill," in which he apparently believes. Mr. Hall states that "the profit motive will not be eliminated whilst human nature remains the same." Might I say that human nature is continually evolving as seen by the fact that the 11,000,000 people living south of us are able to live in harmony, whereas ten men of prehistoric eras were continually warring with one another.

It is not an idealistic or an impracticable thought to suppose that the profit motive can be eliminated; but it can only be eliminated when a complete socialized economy has been realized. On the face of this latter statement it might appear to be quite impossible to accomplish this, but upon closer examination it does not appear so difficult.

Under our present economic system the owner of a factory only operates as long as he can obtain a profit. For example, flour is not manufactured because people are hungry but, on the contrary, it is manufactured for a profit. As soon as the manufacturer can no longer obtain a profit the flour mill is closed.

On the other hand, socially-owned institutions such as streets, parks, etc., pay no profit; in other words they are "for use" and not "for profit"; and yet they still continue to exist successfully notwithstanding being "for use" and not "for profit." The above are not used by people in proportion to their respective incomes, but rather in proportion to their needs. For example, the large family naturally makes more use of the above than the small family. This is the underlying principle of socialized economy.

Thus the conclusion presents itself to us that under such a socialized economy the profit motive would be practically eliminated.

A WAR VETERAN'S CASE

Sir,—With reference to the letter recently appearing in your columns regarding the treatment of veterans by the soldiers' clubs, I would like to draw your attention to a case which I think needs some explanation.

A veteran with whom I am personally acquainted is in indigent circumstances. He has a very small pension, amounting to $22 per month, on which he has to support himself and his family, doing it out by any honest work he can find to do from time to time. This man applied to the postmaster recently in the hope that he might be engaged as "extra help" whenever needed. He was informed by the postmaster that it would be advisable for him to apply through one of the soldiers' clubs. He replied that he did not belong to any of them as he felt he could not afford it. Nevertheless he was instructed to see an official of one of the clubs, which he did. On stating his case and requesting that his name be placed on the list of applicants, he was informed very bluntly that nothing of the sort would be done, the reason of the refusal being that he was not a member of any veterans' organization.

He returned to the Postoffice and explained the matter and I am glad to say that his name was put on the list by the postmaster in spite of the refusal of his own comrades to assist him when he applied for their aid. It seems to me that this matter should be thoroughly ventilated. This returned man, a hard worker, a wounded pensioner who was in hospital for a whole year, a Sunday school teacher, a total abstainer, a man of excellent character, has been refused any assistance by his organized comrades for the sole reason that he is too poor to join one of the soldiers' clubs.

What are these organizations for, if not to help all veterans who need a friendly hand, whether they are members or not. If the various returned clubs are merely closed corporations confining their activities solely to their own members, then it seems to me that the spirit of true comradeship has been lost completely.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

Sir,—It will be twenty years next year since Great Britain adopted daylight saving, it going into force each year from April to September. The Manchester Guardian referring to this recently said that the name of Mr. Willett, the British M.P., who fought for it for years against prejudice and business interests, deserves a place with Pilsnol as a purveyor of the world's peace.

Mr. Willett has likewise a long fight before him to prevent the overloading of ships, the load water line on freight ships being known as the Pilsnol line. Several European countries, also large cities in Eastern United States and Canada altogether with a population of 150 millions have followed Great Britain in adopting daylight saving. There should be no question now as to its advantages at it has stood the test of twenty years. W. B. ORR, P.O. Box 956, Victoria, B.C., Dec. 9, 1935.

ERRORS OF THE GREAT

Sir,—Napoleon said, "Posterity will do me justice," and the present state of the world's affairs may cause many people in the future to reflect a little more on his career.

No doubt Alexander the Great, Julius Caesar, Napoleon and others held the same idea of their wars, that many held of our last Great War, that they were wars to end war rather than any lust for conquest. Probably they were pestered to death with the numerous struggles and petty wars around them in their days.

Imagine what would Napoleon say if he was in the world again today and could see the modern weapons and engines of destruction, with the efforts being made by the League of Nations to suppress war. I think he would say it is too late now to end up in the destruction of your civilization. You are suffering now from errors of the past.

I am accomplished by force the consolidation of the greater part of Europe, but through the few countries who so bitterly opposed me and my mistaken Russian campaign caused the destruction of all I had accomplished in that way instead of consolidating what I then held; but there have been many Waterloo since and, perhaps, more to come unless you are more united in trying to accomplish a world's federation.

What did it matter who did the consolidating, or what system of government was used, a republic or the monarchial one? They would not all have been French men or women, but through an equal franchise they would have retained their own laws and racial distinctions. Millions have been slain there since, and Europe is still bristling with bayonets.

I was taken almost as a mere child and taught the arts of war, and tried to obtain federation in the manner I had been taught, and thought it could be done, and many of you today, it seems, are only now

The Good Old MUSTARD BATH

At the first sneeze, snuffle or chill, safeguard yourself with a mustard bath. It heats you up and sweats out the poisons. It stops little colds growing into big robust coughs or colds. Mustard is not a medicine that you dose yourself with, but a good old-fashioned remedy that has been used effectively by generation after generation.

If more convenient, instead of a full length bath, soak the feet in a pail of hot water in which you have put a tablespoonful of Colman's Mustard... then to bed and cover up.

SAYS MARSHAL HAS NO POWER

F. C. Elliott Defends Action Of W. D. Todd in Connection With Street Pump

The case in which W. D. Todd is charged with having violated the regulations of the fire marshal in the erection of a gas pump on the streets of the city, came before Magistrate Jay in the police court yesterday. The matter was largely a question of the interpretation of legal points. Magistrate Jay reserved his judgment for a few days to consult the authorities quoted for his guidance.

F. C. Elliott, who appeared for Mr. Todd, took the position that the regulation under which objection was taken to the action of his client, was null and void because it went beyond the powers that were conveyed under the act governing the situation. The regulations, Mr. Elliott contended, could only be such as were needed to carry out the act. The provisions of the act could not be expanded by means of the regulations.

FIRE CHIEF TESTIFIES
The facts upon which the charge was based were explained by Fire Chief Alex Munroe, who is the deputy fire marshal. He testified that he had objected to Mr. Todd putting the gasoline pump on the street as being contrary to the regulations under which he worked. He found later that the pump had been installed and that permission had been given Mr. Todd to remove the pavement to do this and to replace it. This permission was from the engineer's department.

Mr. Elliott said he had gone through the act and all the amendments to it and found nothing that would give the power to interfere with the defendant. He found nothing in the Fire Marshal's Act dealing with the question of gasoline. Provision was made for the bringing into effect of regulations, and in the offending section 5 of the regulations so prepared, appeared the one prohibiting the erection of any pump on the highway.

The regulation, he contended, was ultra vires inasmuch as it exceeded the powers given under the act. He argued further that there was nothing to show that the fire marshal had power over the streets of the city, which were city property. The rights of the marshal extended only to the private property held and with respect to the prevention of fires.

O. L. Harrison, for the city, took the position that the Fire Marshal's

TAKES CHARGE OF BOND FIRM

Harold F. Hepburn to Manage Office for C. M. Oliver & Co. Here

Harold F. Hepburn, well known in the investment business in Victoria, has been placed in charge of the Victoria office of C. M. Oliver & Co., according to an announcement made yesterday by the firm. F. C. Swallow is being transferred to Vancouver to take charge of one of the head office departments.

Mr. Hepburn has been well-known in business and social circles in Victoria since 1914. Before coming to Canada in 1910 he was in business in Germany and in London, where he was with Lloyd's and the South American railway offices.

When he came to Canada he entered upon the real estate and insurance business in Kamloops. Just before the war he moved to Victoria to take up the financial business.

MAINTAINS SERVICES
To assume the management of the Oliver office here, Mr. Hepburn this week retired from the financial firm of H. W. Miller & Co., with which he has been associated for some years. He said the Victoria office of C. M. Oliver & Co. would maintain the continuous services it has had during its period of business expansion of the last couple of years.

Besides being the only members of the Vancouver Stock Exchange in Victoria, the firm of C. M. Oliver & Co. has the distinction of being the oldest brokerage firm on the Mainland of British Columbia. He said that under its wire arrangements, New York and Eastern Canadian markets could be reached within three minutes.

The company is carrying, with the exception of life, a general line of insurance of English and American companies.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Question—West bid one heart. North one spade, East and South passed. West bid two hearts, North doubled. Was this a penalty or a take-out double?
Answer—Decidedly a penalty double. If North had wanted to hear from his partner he should have doubled at his first opportunity, namely, over the one heart bid.
